Condolences: Isiaha Lee Brown Family

5/21/25

May has almost come to an end but seems like it has just begun. Time is cruel, sometimes we want good days to never end and bad days to never come but we cannot control time. The time we have is limited and passes so quickly that we forget to relish it. There are Friends, Family, Acquaintances and complete strangers that have come into our lives, come and gone never to be seen again. We will never know when our last day will come so we must cherish every moment we have. Live life to the fullest extent and keep those you love in constant contact, let them know you mean everything to them and hold them close. Whatever your reason for getting up tomorrow, make sure it is with purpose, and do not sweat the small things.

Isiaha Brown was an ETR out of Santa Barbara, he served under the United States Army and The Air National Guard. His family touches on his passion to uplift others, living life to the fullest and a smile that lights up the room. He will be greatly Missed.
